

One Hand Search

(find 5 objects)

This is a great introductory lesson for an environmental lesson. It allows students to become familiar with the area they will be working in.

Set out search area limits for students. Direct them to find 5 objects. These could be based on colour, texture, shape, smell, size.

The activity works best with a time limit.

Have each student share their findings using descriptive language.

Provide additional information where possible to expand students' environmental knowledge.
